PART D: SUPERVISION AND ACADEMIC PERFORMANCE STATEMENT: STATEMENT OF EXPECTATIONS

It is really important that care is taken with the statement of expectations and that every point below is fully discussed to avoid later misunderstandings.

The Doctoral Web Book outlines what to expect of doctoral study including time commitments, what to do if you need to make some changes to your candidature as well as rights and responsibilities which you and your supervisors must be familiar with. You and your supervisory panel should discuss and agree on what level of support can reasonably be expected from supervisors and at what point other support services are more appropriate. You should be aware of these other supports services; both academic (library consultation, academic writing, statistics etc.) and broader support such as Health, Wellbeing and Careers.

- You must discuss and agree with your supervisory panel not only on what is to be achieved in the provisional year but also on what can reasonably be expected of everyone to ensure a successful working relationship throughout the candidacy. This statement should regularly be revisited throughout the candidacy as priorities change.
- You should have ongoing discussions with your panel about progress and these should form the basis of the content of the progress report which should be completed on time by everyone. You should be aware of the consequences of poor progress; a performance review process leading to termination of candidacy in the case of little or no improvement.

If you need more space attach extra pages and send these with this application.
